NOTE:

Some lay preachers from Rochester preached to children in front of the entire congregation - thus adults also heard the homily. Several others preach regularly in jails and prisons. Still others have preached at wedding and funeral Masses in several places outside of the Diocese of Rochester. In the summer of 2001, a lay preacher was asked by a person in the Diocesan office to preach at all weekend Masses in a parish where the people complained that they could not understand the foreign priest. The lay ministry of preaching began with college chaplains. Historically, since the 1960s, pastors have invited well-trained lay people to share the preaching ministry.
